ROBBINS'
Vegetable Panacea.

IF there is a Panacea in the world it is this preparation. It is safe and simple, particularly useful as a convenient family medicine, in sudden Colds, Febrile Attacks, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Coughs, Cramp and Rheumatism, Sprains, Pains in the side, stomach, bowels, or other parts of the body, Headache, Toothache, Cold hands and feet, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera, Fever and Ague, Chilblains, &c. It rarely fails to bring out the eruptions in measles and canker rash; and these diseases are often cured with this Panacea alone. And for that most terrible of all diseases, DIPHTHERIA, this preparation has not its equal in the world.

This medicine is of recent date, but has been extensively used for the cure of the various diseases for which it is recommended, and it has proved, over a wide country, its immense superiority over every Panacea known. It is the best Pain Expeller in use; is highly recommended for the instantaneous relief of all pains and aches the flesh is subject to.

All persons who are subject to SORE THROAT, which, neglected, is very apt to result in that dreadful disease, DIPHTHERIA, should have this simple remedy continually by them, particularly those living away from medical aid.

Directions with each Bottle. Price 35 cents. Sold by dealers in medicines everywhere. ☞ Ask for "ROBBINS' PANACEA," and take no other.

Financial Matters in New Orleans—The Yellow Fever at Galveston, Texas—More Indian Depredations near Fort Laramie—The Case of Santa Anna.

CONCORD, N. H., July 13.

A fire occurred here about one o'clock this morning which entirely destroyed the American House and adjoining dwellings occupied by Mrs. John Gass, and three saloons. The hotel was owned by B. M. Sanborn and recently leased by John Muzzy, who loses every thing he put in. Total loss from $20,000 to $25,000. The buildings were insured for $10,000 and the furniture and stocks for small amounts. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.

In two days the city currency fell from 9 to 20 per cent discount at the brokers' office, though it is still received at par by most dealers when presented in small sums.

GALVESTON, July 12.

There has not been a case of yellow fever here for eight or ten days. A despatch to the military headquarters from Indianola reports an increase of the epidemic there among the citizens. There was 5 cases each on the 3d and 4th insts., and there have been three deaths out of 120 cases. The physicians disagree as the character of the disease.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.

Smith's ranche, twelve miles, and Denver's ranche, twenty-two miles from Julesburg, were attacked by the Indians and the stock captured.

GALVESTON, July 12.

Two Government registering officers of the Washington, Texas, district, were shot yesterday, and badly wounded.

RICHMOND, Va., July 12.

Meetings of citizens were held in Rappahannock and Dinwiddie counties yesterday, at which republican platforms were adopted, and delegates appointed to the August convention in Richmond. Hon. Thomas S. Forney and Wm. M. Treadway, both ex-members of Congress, participated in the latter meeting.

The Whig has accounts of various other meetings of a similar character in the State.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 12.

Regulations have been issued by General Schofield establishing a quarantine at Hampton Roads for the summer months.—The registration is completed in Elizabeth City County and stands 305 whites to 14,-154 colored.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

Dr. Naphegyr, agent of General Santa Anna, has been here for the last two days at the Capitol in close conversation with several Senators. Hon. Reverdy Johnson acts as his legal adviser in the case now before the State Department respecting the General's abduction from a U. S. vessel. Naphegyr, whatever his object, seems to have enlisted in it many influential men. Affidavits have been seen from the captain and passengers to the effect that General Santa Anna was forcibly taken from the Virginia, and that the steamer was beyond the marine league from the shore at the time.

NEW YORK, July 13.

It is said that two fillibustering expeditions to Mexico to avenge Maximillian's death are rapidly filling up in the city.—Similar organizations are also in progress in Buffalo and New Orleans. The expeditions have been organizing for a long time. At first it was their intention to sieze Maximilian in Queretaro and demand a heavy price for him from either Juarez or Austria, but on the news of his execution they changed the scheme to one of vengeance.—The ranks are filling up slowly however.

NEW YORK, July 13.

Letters from South America allied republics dated at Lima, Peru, June 22d and at Valpariaso, Chili, 10th, and at La Paz, Bolivia, May 31st, say all the officers of the late revolution in Peru had surrendered and received their pardons from Congress. A law had been passed giving high honors to Castillo, Chief of the revolution, who died recently in Arica, and settling a free pension on his widow. A proposition was before Congress declaring Bamda, minister to the United States, unworthy of the confidence of the nation.

LAWRENCE, Ka., July 12.

A fight took place near Fort Wallace on the 25th ult., in which six cavalry men were killed, and the soldiers driven back to the fort. A non-commissioned officer captured by the Indians was mutilated and tortured in a most horrible manner.

Thirteen colored soldiers had died at Fort Hooker of cholera.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.

A special despatch from Junction City, Ka., says the cholera broke out in Fort Harker on the 28th of June, since which time over a dozen soldiers of the 8th colored infantry and several citizens, including George K. Eaton and Wm. Edwards, of the quartermasters department, and a brother of Capt. Arms, have died with it. There are now nearly 20 soldiers in the hospital sick with it.

The Committee on the treatment of Union prisoners has arranged its plan of operations. During the summer, the members of the committee will take evidence in the Northern States, making the point at which some member will be present and the time known, that all soldiers or others having information on the subject in hand can communicate it. In the fall the whole committee will go South to the various prison pens. The rebel archives, as arranged and collated by Dr. Lieber, will be placed at the disposal of the committee.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR. A letter received in Portland states that while Captain Mitchell, of barque Josephine, at Remedios (Cuba) was boarding his vessel on the 28th of June for the last time previous to her sailing for Europe, with two men belonging in Boston, the boat was capsized and its occupants thrown into the water, when the two men were immediately devoured by sharks. Capt. Mitchell was rescued after clinging to the mast of the boat fifteen hours. The preservation of the captain is due to the fact that the sail attached to the boat frightened away the sharks.

Original and Selected.

Mr. Stamm, of Milan, has made a vehicle in which the strength of the horse is reinforced by that of steam, while the steam power gains in application the advantage of the horse's intelligence, so that both work together and are managed as one by the reins. When the horse moves forward, his traction applies the steam; when he is pulled up his backward action shuts it off, and if vigorously applied, reverses the engine, which backs as he backs, stops backing as he stops, and again starts forward as he starts.

—There are men so thickly encrusted and cased in with old prejudices and ways of thinking on religious and reformatory questions, that they must change altogether if they change at all. They seem to bear upon their faces, as addressed to all new ideas, the inscription which is sometimes posted on the doors of offices, "positively no admittance," without even the qualifying condition, "Except on business;" for what business, they say, have new ideas here?

—In Richmond they have a new idea in photography, which is to take the head of a lady in the midst of the petals of any kind of a flower—a rose, tulip or lily. The profile appears almost smothered in a beautiful and highly-colored flower, with a long stem attached, and it looks as natural as if it had grown there.

—The Wilmington Journal is pleased to note the fact that the "society" of that city, which has been "more firm than could have been expected in resisting troublesome innovations and encroachments upon its charmed circle, is being rapidly restored to that firm basis upon which it stood before the war. The editor also wonders at this fact, and hopes that in the future the city will be free from "all modern and more northern innovations and imperfections."

—It is confirmed that in the course of the summer a grand dinner will be given to the Emperor by the exhibitors at the universal exhibition. Subscriptions of 30fr. each are now being collected for that purpose. It is intended that the banquet shall take place in the Crystal Palace in the Champs Elysees, with M. Schneider in the chair.

A more thrilling temperance lecture cannot well be conceived.

—Vineland, N. J., which was an uninhabited forest six years ago, produced and shipped to New York and Philadelphia during the strawberry season just closed, 143,349 quarts of the fruit. Beside there were canned by a company at that place, 28,000 quarts, and 40,000 quarts were consumed at home. This makes a crop of 249,358 quarts. It is said that the crop of blackberries will be fully as large, but of raspberries there will not be so large a crop.

A bill for this purpose has been introduced into the House of Commons, and though encountering violent opposition from the railway interest it has passed successfully through Committee hands, and will probably become a law

—The rush of immigrants to Minnesota this year is unprecedented. Every steamboat and train is loaded with them, very generally carrying their teams, horses, cows, sheep, &c., with them. Two thousand have passed over one track alone, bound for the Sauk valley, since the opening of navigation.

—The Turkish government has issued a proclamation prohibiting the importation of revolvers. However, such of those weapons as were ordered before the 16th will be admitted upon the production of proof of the fact; all others will be rigorously excluded.

—One of the lay speakers in a Methodist Conference down East illustrated his readiness to fraternize with his Southern brethren and his feeling toward them, by the story of the two men that would not speak to each other, but one, having been converted at a camp meeting, on seeing his former enemy, held out his hand, saying, "How d'ye do, Kemp? I am humble enough to shake hands with a dog."

Who is Responsible for Andersonville ?

Gen Shanks offered in the House resolutions directing a thorough and systematic investigation of the treatment of the Union prisoners of war by the Rebel Government and for this action well deserves general thanks The inquiry is tardy it should have been made long ago, and, says the New York Tribune, we have repeatedly urged Congress to do this very thing The trial of Wirz raised many important questions, and it was claimed that the testimony taken directly implicated the Richmond government in the cruelties of Andersonville and the Libby Prison But it settled one question only—the guilt of the prisoner That was decided, Wirz was hung—yet no one believes that he alone was responsible for the atrocities committed He must have had accomplices he may have acted under the orders of his superiors Now this shows precisely what has not yet been settled, but what the United States is bound to fix—the responsibility The official records of the rebellion are in possession of our government thousands of Union soldiers who suffered and rebels who saw their sufferings, are scattered over the country, there is no lack of evidence, documentary and direct All that is needed is an investigation which shall in truth be thorough and systematic and which shall reveal how far the starvation of our captured soldiers was caused by the cruel orders of rebel authorities, what truth there is in the story that it was caused by rebel poverty, whether the Richmond Government knew the condition of its prisoners, what orders it issued, what interference it declined In appointing a committee by a vote of 100 to 28 the House has taken the first active and sufficient step to discover who is guilty, and to silence, it may be, the slanders of those who are not

But the inquiry should not end here Justice and policy alike dictate that it should be made broad enough to cover our treatment of rebel prisoners When the exchange of prisoners was resumed, and the skeletons of Andersonville were delivered to our agents Southern papers responded to the horror and indignation of the North by affirming that we too were guilty of cruelty We should like to see that matter authoritatively and finally settled On each side let the facts be published, the whole truth revealed, and whoever is found guilty of inhumanity to prisoners, on them let the laws be enforced and the scorn of the world be visited

A Colored Man's Speech

The Cincinnati Gazette has a full report of a thoughtful and eloquent speech delivered by a colored man named Morris at a freedmen's meeting held at Paddy's Run, Kentucky, June 27 Mr Morris said

* * * Here in our native State we will admit that the colored people have been comparatively free from the effects of mob law heretofore, under the old regime, for this reason—slavery existed, and the negro being a slave of course belonged to the rich white man and he said touch him if you dare but lay the weight of your little finger upon him, you, greasy mechanic, or you, toiling laborers, and we will drive you off the State or send you to the State Prison or hang you or shoot you down as we would a mad dog, and the poor white man, debased as much by slavery as the colored man, cringed the supple knee to the dark image of the slave oligarchy The poor white man was as subservient a tool to the rich white, came and went at his beck and call with the same avidity as a dog was ever ready to do the dirty work of the oligarchy, and was as eager for their smile as any ill treated cur for the kind word of his master This is the guard, the check that has kept the mob at bay in the slave States But the thing is changed now—we are free in name if not in fact the condition of affairs, has, by a whirl of fortune's wheel, made a great change, we were at the bottom yesterday, wallowing in the mire with swine scratching gravel with the chickens barking at intruders with the dog, stealing old massa's chickens like the fox, robbing him of his bacon like a slave, but to day we are—stupendous change!—American citizens, entitled to all the privileges and immunities of the white man, our master of yesterday—Has the seed sown by Chase, and Sumner, and Garrison, and Douglass, and Wade and glorious old Thad of Pennsylvania, and countless other workers in the field of humanity borne no fruit? Yes the harvest has been an abundant one, disappointing the fondest hopes of the most expectant, for where they looked for an ordinary return the blessings have been piled up beyond computation

Mr Chairman do you know that I believe that there are persons in this vast concourse that will live to see colored men in Congress, that the future great statesmen of this country will be drawn from amongst the colored people? Maybe some future President may now be in these woods an unnoticed, unrecognized negro boy, unknown to fame whose voice will hold the nations entranced with a spell Look at the history of Frederick Douglass—born a slave, learning his alphabet in the street and getting his white mates to teach him how to make letters on a cellar door with a piece of chalk Look upon the unknown slave-boy then, and Frederick Douglass to-day, the peer, the equal of the highest, standing upon the same platform with the greatest orators in the country

There, also, is John M Langston of Oberlin, a lawyer of prominence, practising before the Supreme Court of the United States, and holding a prominent office under the government. He, too was born a slave, but he, to-day is courted and fawned upon by men in high positions, who, a few years ago, would have spurned him as an impudent, upstart "nigger" Don't the world move?

In New Orleans, Captain Jim Lewis of the old Corps d'Afrique, holds a position in the Custom House, and Pinckney Stewart also holds some office, but what I do not remember Oscar Dunn, another colored man, is after an office that will pay between five thousand and six thousand dollars per year, with strong prospects of receiving it.

In Tennessee colored men are running for office in the State election, and even the conservative party are [illegible] men and trying to put them in office.

Kentucky, poor, old, slavery [illegible] Kentucky! My native State, 'tis true, but what a spectacle does she present! Back up with the obsolete [illegible] that were exploded by the war, hanging around the neck of the Confederate harlot, [illegible] neither the confidence of the South nor the respect of the North Her influence is as flimsy as the substance of which moonbeams are made, her statesmen are played out, and commit suicide to get rid of the disgrace that their State has brought upon them

See with what contempt old garrulous Garrett Davis is treated in the halls of Congress ridiculed read down, or the hall emptied when he rises in his place to speak his piece

* * * In Kentucky we are denied almost the privilege of living The rebel rule has not been broken here, but the day is not distant when her power will be routed as completely as it was upon the ensanguined field Kentucky has got to come to her senses Men who marched through summer's heat and winter's cold for the purpose of overthrowing the government are not the proper persons to be placed as rulers for a free people Kentucky has got to mould her institutions to suit the republican method set up in Washington, peaceably if she will, by the strong arm of the military power if she is wilfully stubborn The steel clad fist is wanted here to strike these traitor images down and it will be done, too, yet, mark the prediction When a bird can sing and won't, why it ought to be made to sing, and Kentucky has got to sing a loyal tune if the trial does rattle like a dying gurgle in the throat of every white washed rebel in the State

EXTERMINATING THE INDIANS These persons whose talk lightly of "exterminating the hostile Indian tribes," as though it was a comparatively easy matter to do this by force of arms, are no doubt ignorant or misinformed as to the actual numbers and power of these fighting tribes It is for their benefit, therefore, that we give below a statement of their numbers, and the probable strength of the confederation drawn from them, as it is made by a border newspaper This statement is as follows

Apaches,	7,000
Arapahoes,	3 000
Blackfeet,	6 000
Crows,	3,000
Camanches,	20,000
Kioways,	4 000
Cheyennes	3 500
Gros Ventre	500
Minatarees,	2 500
Navajoes	7 500
Sioux,	22 000
Total,	78,000

"These are only the prominent tribes, most of which are more or less hostile and such as may not be drawn into the confederation of which Red Cloud is the head will carry or the fight independently Should the league be as complete as indicated, comprising many small tribes not above enumerated, it would possibly embrace 100,000 souls—This would enable Red Cloud to bring 20,000 to 30,000 warriors into the field, the most of them mounted and well armed"

With the above figures before them readers may see what a bloody and expensive work a war of extermination would prove, to say nothing of its wholesale barbarity and the great uncertainty of its final success

With such an enemy conquest may be comparatively easy, but extermination is exceedingly problematical, while conciliation is assuredly easier and cheaper than either After all, the Indians have undoubted wrongs and outrages to complain of as well as we, and who e there are errors on both sides, it is well for the stronger to temper justice with mercy

HARMONY AMONG PROTESTANTS The recent remarkable gathering of Catholics at Rome has turned many the thoughts of many Protestants to the possibility of securing a greater harmony and working efficiency among the various denominations of their faith This matter is very suggestively touched upon by Rev Mr Burt of Cincinnati, who, in a recent sermon upon the benefits of foreign travel to clergymen, is thus reported

In conclusion, the preacher remarked that his intercourse with the people abroad had impressed him with the undesirableness of so much denominationalism in the Protestant Church He was led to the firm conviction that greater sympathy, harmony and co operation should exist among the different denominations Churches of the same family especially should lay aside their prejudices and cease their rivalries, and work together in hearty co operation in every good cause Party differences seemed to diminish as distance from home increased At home he was not only a Protestant but a Presbyterian, and, unfortunately, an Old School Presbyterian But in Great Britain it was enough that he was a Presbyterian, and on the continent it was enough to say that he was a Protestant Christian In Florence, Italy, the Baptist could not remain at the communion table of the Presbyterian, but at Constantinople they were so far removed from those of their own special church that they gladly united with others in partaking of the Lord's Supper When abroad he never spoke of Old School and New School Presbyterianism when he could help it, for the reason that he felt a sort of shame on account of the division At the distance heaven is from earth he wondered how angels felt in regard to this matter

The Church of Rome was a united, compact organization and efficient beyond all comparison with divided Protestantism It became Protestants to consider this matter, and, for the sake of more effectual work, they should act as far as possible act together in organic unity The contest was such as would tax their utmost strength

THE JAFFA COLONY A correspondent of the Tribune gives us the latest news from the Jaffa colony of Americans, transplanted from Maine to Palestine under the auspices of "Elder Adams," as follows

"Consul Johnson, who was appointed special commissioner to Jaffa, found on his return to Beirut the news of his elevation to the rank of Consul General of Syria, a position which he fully merited The same day he received further orders from the Department to return to Jaffa and examine not only the legal charges against Beauboucher and Lowenthal, but the entire affairs of the colony—social, financial and political It was plain on his second return that there were grave differences between the impressions he received and those received by Mr Bidwell Mr Johnson took the testimony of the colonists, under oath, a course which Mr Bidwell, unfortunately for himself, was not authorized to pursue Men will assert in the heat of controversy what they will hesitate to aver deliberately under oath This will account largely for any discrepancy between the statements of Consul Johnson and Mr Bidwell One of the results of Mr Johnson's visit was the providing of means to secure the passage of some thirty or forty persons from the colony to the United States Of the original 156 there now remain only about 80 Of those that remain, some are said to be living upon money borrowed at the ruinous rate of three per cent a month Mr Johnson investigated the charges against Consuls Beauboucher and Lowenthal, and as far as legal evidence of guilt is concerned, will probably prove that they acted only in a legal manner

ORGANS—POLITICAL AND RELIGIOUS—There is truth in the following from the Tribune

Little great men raised to important stations find organs convenient and their utterances soothing and satisfactory, but that is all In the long run the organs are more likely to mislead them or to prejudice their policy than to render them any substantial service In our judgment, an administration which should resolve at the outset to have nothing like an organ, and sternly adhere to that resolve, would improve its chances of avoiding success.

And it is much the same with a great party. The ability of a journal to help it depends on its maintaining a substantial independence When the public comes to know that a journalist will always do and say just what his party is supposed to approve [illegible] the support [illegible] and carries with it no moral weight. "The ox knoweth his master," is the popular comment on the most fervid and zealous commendations of his party's principles, measures, or candidates

So, substantially, with a religious journal's denominational proclivities Every one knows beforehand about what its editor will think and say on any topic or occurrence affecting his church's prosperity, policy, or good name Knowing that he will "deem this side always right, and that stark naught," you take his advocacy or reprobation purely as a matter of course He could help it far more by being its independent monitor than by such absolute subserviency

The Independent (in spite of its name) was started as in some sense an organ of the Congregationalist (Orthodox) Church It had, for a time, four clergymen of that order as its joint editors When they left, it found "one of the same sort" sufficient to replace them all When he retired, a layman succeeded, who is still its editor. It gradually became a free, unsectarian religious journal, insisting on conformity to the Divine Law in all things, attaching less and less importance to the peculiar tenets and ordinances of the sect of which its editor and publisher are still members, until at length it felt even the imputation of sectarian fealty a fetter, and deliberately repelled it Henceforth the Independent is not distinctly Congregational, but commends "whatsoever things are pure," wherever it may chance to find them

Hence the Congregationalists at their late Convention, repudiated the Independent as an organ, and resolved to establish one to take the place it has vacated This is right all round, save that we don't believe an organ desirable, otherwise than as a convenience aforesaid The Independent can do the Congregationalists more good as an outsider than as an organ, and will be a far more acceptable sheet to the great body of the reading public, while an organ can be started and run on a tithe of the capital, intellectual and pecuniary, that is needed to sustain such a journal as the Independent

The Disease of America.

Dyspepsia is said to be the disease of America—Its victims may be found in all stations of life The poor as well as the rich are sufferers from its life-destroying influence The symptoms of this disease vary greatly in the different stages of the complaint It generally commences with a sensation of fullness after eating and a changeable, diminished, or lost appetite In some instances the appetite is voracious and when—in obedience to its promptings—a large portion of food is taken into the stomach pain follows in that region with general distress nervousness and nausea Flatulency and heart burn invariably attend this disease For all these symptoms HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will be found an invaluable household remedy as its alterative, corrective and restorative properties are derived exclusively from roots and plants, the virtues of which are acknowledged by pharmaceutists and physicians Separately they have often been prescribed by the profession but were never combined until Dr Hostetter gave to the world his HEALTH-RESTORING BITTERS, which have proved a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and its attendant evils july 1 snd&w

Dr. Schenck, the Lung Doctor.

The Proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, the inventor of SCHENCK'S RESPIROMETER, the only instrument that can to a certainty detect the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs

This is of great importance to Dr SCHENCK, to know the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial, Pleuritic, or Dyspeptic Consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased

It requires constant and long practice to become familiar with every sound or rattling of a diseased bronchial tube. Patients come to Dr SCHENCK to get examined that have been examined by their family physician, who told them that their lungs were almost gone, when by a close examination with the Respirometer, it is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube, and by getting a healthy action of the liver and tone of the stomach, the sufferer is soon restored to health Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough, is certain death to the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood—hemorrhage flows, and, in fact, stopping the action of the very organs that caused the cough

Dr Schenck will be professionally his rooms every week, 32 Broad street New York, and 35 Hanover street, Boston, from 9 A M until 3 P M He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5 His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers also, a full supply at all times at his rooms Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1 50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen Mandrake Pills 25 cents per box GEO C. An Effectual Worm Medicine

BLOWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES Much sickness undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's Vermifuge Comfits is such as to give the best possible effect with safety

Interesting Correspondence Relative to Santa Anna.

Secretary Seward Does Not Yet See Grounds for Hostile Attitude towards Mexico.

The Surratt Trial.

A SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Supplementary Reconstruction Bill in Full.

Both Houses Agreed and the Bill Finally Passed.

The French Minister to Mexico Refused His Passports.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

WASHINGTON, July 14.

The reply of Secretary Seward, which is a lengthy document, to the application of Dr. Naphegyi for the intervention of this government for the release of Santa Anna and his return to the United States, is furnished for publication.

Mr. Seward demonstrates that the Virginia at the time of the capture of Santa Anna was not engaged in her regular business as a merchant and passenger vessel, but was chartered by Santa Anna to convey himself and suite to Mexico on an illegal and belligerent expedition. That while at Vera Cruz he was in consultation with the enemies of the republic and that they had arranged to proclaim him as commander of Vera Cruz in opposition to the republican government. That he falsely pretented that he went to Mexico with the sanction of President Johnson and Secretary Seward and that he pretented the surrender of Vera Cruz after the terms of surrender had been agreed to and occupied by both parties and this under a declaration that he was acting under the authority of the United States.—The State Department does not disallow or censure but approves of the proceedings of the United States Consul and Commander Roe at Vera Cruz.

Mr. Seward also quotes from the letter of Santo Anna to General Perejo, to show that he (Santa Anna) landed voluntarily, and that the captain of the Virginia protested, not against his capture, but against his landing contrary to the orders of Commander Roe not to land him on Mexican Territory.

The Secretary concludes as follows—

"Upon this review of facts, it seems proper that the government should wait for further and more definite information, before entering upon a communication in relation to the complaint of Mr. Naphegyi with the government of Mexico. That nation seems almost to have triumphed over all its internal and foreign enemies, and to have reached a crisis where, if left alone, it may be expected to restore tranquility and to reorganize itself upon a permanent foundation of union, freedom and republican government. Only some great national injury, wrong or offence would justify this government in suddenly assuming a hostile, or even an unfriendly attitude toward the republic of Mexico."

WASHINGTON, July 13.

Olivia Jenkins sworn—Lived at Mrs. Surratt at the time of the assassination. John Surratt was not at home on the day the President was killed. Saw him on a Monday night, two weeks before. She confirmed the testimony of Miss Fitzpatrick; was at breakfast the morning after the assassination. Did not hear Annie Surratt say the death of Mr. Lincoln was no more than the death of a negro. Did not hear Weichman say he was going to tell all he knew.

Bennett F. Gwynn testified that he saw Mrs. Surratt at Surrattsville the afternoon of the 14th of April on business.

Wm. Failing, former keepers of the Webster House, Canandaigua, N. Y., testified to a man registering the name of John Harrison arrived there from Elmira on April 15, 1865.

Frank O. Chamberlain, present proprietor of the same house, testified to the identity of the hotel register on which the entry appeared.

The prosecution having objected to the introduction of the register on the ground that Surratt may have written the name in it subsequently to its date, considerable argument ensued, and the Court reserved its decision till Monday.

SPECIAL SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 13.

SENATE.

After the presentation of a petition by Mr. Morgan, Mr. Grimes moved a recess for an half hour, saying he understood the conference committee to be ready to report at that time.

At 12.45 the session was resumed and the Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Interior in response to a resolution calling for information, reports, etc., on the origin and extent of the Indian difficulties, which was read and ordered to be printed.

The conference committee reported the reconstruction bill, which passed—31 against six.

Mr. Sumner moved to suspend the rules of Friday that he might call up his universal suffrage bill.

The motion was ruled out of order as it could not be made without notice.

Mr. Sumner gave such notice for Monday.

The House bill making appropriations for carrying out the reconstruction measures was read twice and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Thayer introduced a bill for the permanent location of all the Indian tribes in a territory to be set apart therefor between Missouri river and the Rocky Mountains.—Ordered to be printed.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

On the motion of Pike, a select committee on the treatment of Union prisoners of war was authorized to set at such places and take testimony by such members of the committee as it may deem proper.

Mr. Munger moved the suspension of the rules to allow him to offer a resolution extending the inquiries of that committee to the treatment of rebel prisoners of war, the cause of the suspension of the cartel of exchange, etc.

A lively debate took place, during which Mr. Butler said he courted the fullest investigation as one of those who were engaged in the negotiations for the exchange of prisoners during the war.

The debate was mainly as to who was responsible for the suspension of exchange of prisoners during the war, and was participated in by Ingersoll, Butler, Eldridge and others.

The House refused to suspend the rules.

Mr. Washburn of Wis., asked leave to offer a preamble and resolution expressing belief that the prisoners of the United States were in no instance treated otherwise than with kindness and humanity, and that this House will entertain no resolution which implies to the contrary unless accompanied by a responsible charge that they were treated otherwise.

Mr. Eldridge objected.

Mr. Washburn moved to suspend the rules which was done and the resolutions was agreed to—108 to 16.

Mr. Stevens presented the report of the conference committee on the reconstruction bill which was agreed to.

The following is the bill as passed—

Section 1. That it is hereby declared to have been the true intent and meaning of the act of the second day of March, 1867, entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States thereto passed on the 23d of March, 1867, that the government then existing in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas were not legal State governments, and that thereafter said governments, if continued, were to be continued subject in all respects to the military commanders of the respective districts and to the permanent power of Congress.

Section 2. That the commander of any district named in said act shall have power, subject to the disapproval of the General of the army of the United States and to have effect until disapproved, whenever in the opinion of such commander the proper administration of said act shall require it, to suspend or remove from office or from the performance of official duties and the exercise of official powers any officer or person holding and exercising, or professing to hold or exercise, any civil or military office or duty in such district, under any power of election, appointment or authority, derived from or granted by, or claimed under any so-called State or government thereof, or municipal or other division thereof, and upon such suspension or removal each commander subject to the disapproval of the General, as aforesaid, shall have power from time to time to provide for the performance of the said duties of such officer or person so suspended or removed by the detail of some competent officer and soldier of the army, or by the appointment of some other person to perform the same and to fill vacancies occasioned by deaths resignation or otherwise.

Section 3. That the general of the army of the United States is invested with all the powers of suspension, removal, appointment and detail granted in the preceding section to the District Commanders.

Section 4. That the acts of the officers of the army already done in removing in said districts, persons exercising the functions of civil officers and appointing others in their stead are hereby confirmed: provided, that any person heretofore or hereafter appointed by any District Commander to the exercise of the functions of any civil office may be removed either by the military officer in command of the district or by the General of the army, and it should be the duty of such commander to remove from office, as aforesaid, all persons who are disloyal to the government of the United States, or who use their official influence in any manner to hinder, delay, prevent or obstruct the due and proper administration of this act, and the acts to which it is supplementary.

Section 5. That the boards of registration provided in the act entitled "An act supplementary to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 2, 1865, and to facilitate the registration, passed March 23, 1867, shall have power, and it shall be their duty before allowing the registration of any person to ascertain upon such facts or information as they can obtain, whether such person is entitled to be registered under said act, and the oath required by said act shall not be conclusive on such question, and no person shall be registered unless such board shall decide that he is entitled thereto, and such board shall also have power to examine under the oath to be administered by any member of such board any one touching the qualification of any person claiming registration, but in every case of refusal by the board to register an applicant, and in every case of striking his name from the list as hereinafter prescribed, the board shall make a note or memorandum, which shall be returned with the registration list to the commanding General, [illegible] striking from the [illegible] [illegible] provided, that no person shall be disqualified as a member of any board of registration by reason of race or color.

Section 6. That the true intent and meaning of the oath prescribed in said supplementary act, is, among other things, that no person who has been a member of the Legislature of any State, or who has held any executive or judicial office in any State, whether he has taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States or not, and whether he was holding such office at the commencement of the rebellion or had held it before, and who has afterwards engaged in rebellion against the United States, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or vote, and the words "executive or judicial office in any State," in said oath mentioned, shall be construed to include all civil officers created by law for the administration of any general law of a State, or for the administration of justice.

Section 7. And be it further enacted, that the time for completing the original registration provided for in said act may in the discretion of the commander of any district, be extended to the first day of October, 1867, and the boards of registration shall have power, and it shall be their duty, commencing 14 days prior to any election under said act, and upon reasonable public notice of the time and place thereof, to revise for a period of five days the registration lists, and upon being satisfied that any person not entitled thereto has been registered, to strike the name of such person from the list, and such person shall not be allowed to vote, and such board shall also, during the same period add to such registry the names of all persons who, at that time, possess the qualifications required by said act, who have not been already registered, and no person shall at any time be entitled to be registered, or to vote, by reason of any executive pardon or amnesty for any act or thing which, without such pardon or amnesty, would disqualify him from registration or voting.

Section 8. That all members of said boards of registration, and all persons hereafter elected or appointed to office in said military districts, under the so called state or municipal authority, or by detail or appointment of the district commanders, shall be required to take and subscribe to the oath of office prescribed by law for the officers of the United States.

Section 9. That no district commander, or member of the board of registration or any officers or appointees acting under them, shall be bound in his action by any opinion of any civil officer of the United States.

Section 10. That section 4 of said act last named shall be construed to authorize the commanding general named therein, whenever he shall deem it needful to remove any member of a board of registration, and to appoint another in his stead, and to fill any vacancy in such board.

Section 11. That all the provisions of this act, and of the acts to which this is supplementary, shall be construed literally to the end that all the intents thereof may be fully and perfectly carried out.

Mr. Paine introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to cause certain muster out rolls to be photographed, to facilitate the payment of additional bounty. Passed.

LOCAL AND MAINE ITEMS.

—The Kennebec Journal is publishing extracts from the private correspondence of Hon. J. G. Blaine, now traveling in Europe. In one of these letters we find the following allusion to a gentleman of this city:

"Mr. Rufus Dwinel is not well. He is 25 pounds lighter than when he left home, but I think he will improve with these baths—indeed he is looking already better than he did the day he reached here."

RESIGNATION. We regret to learn that unforeseen circumstances have induced Mr. Hilton to resign the Principalship of the High School, upon which he recently entered. During his brief stay he won the esteem of all who made his acquaintance.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. Saturday afternoon, as Mr. James B. Houston, framer and builder, was on a freight train, passing Silver street bridge at South Boston, on the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad, his head came in contact with the bridge, and he was knocked backward and senseless upon a car load of lumber. He was conveyed to his residence at 184 Shawmut avenue, and died shortly after the accident. He was 52 years of age.—[Boston Journal.

Mr. Houston formerly resided in this city. He leaves many friends here to regret his untimely death.

ESCAPE OF PRISONERS. We mentioned that three prisoners escaped from Thomaston State Prison a few days since. The Rockland Gazette says their escape was made through a tunnel which had been dug from the cellar of the blacksmith shop, under the yard, to a cistern near the western wall and from this cistern up the wall to the open field, coming out close under the wall. This tunnel had doubtless been excavated at various times, as opportunity was found to work upon it without detection, and it is conjectured that it was designed to afford the means of escape for a larger number; but probably these three prisoners found an opportunity to complete it and escape, leaving their accomplices to seek another favorable opportunity for themselves. The repairs now going on at the prison render such an escape much more likely to occur than when the regular business is going on. Two of the prisoners were speedily taken, the other is still at large.

BURGLARIES. The Bath Times states that the house of L. W. Houghton, Esq., was entered on Thursday and two gold watches and other valuables carried off.

Same night the house of Stephen Larrabee, Esq., was also entered and a small sum of money taken.

On the same evening, Oliver Moses, Esq., Wm. H. Foye and J. E. Brown were visited by the burglars, and small amounts taken from each place.

Mr. Houghton was awakened by the noise, and while lighting the gas a man rushed from the house and escaped.

—The Bath Times states that T. Haskins De Puy has examined the estimates for building a railroad bridge at that place, and decided that a bridge with stone piers and wooden superstructure can be completed for $275,000, some $4000 less than previous estimates.

—The Lewiston Journal states that a female rough struck one Bridget Allen with a club and knocked her senseless. The girl was taken to a place of safety, and after lying unconscious several hours began to recover. The fighting girl was bound over for trial.

—Under our matrimonial head it will be seen that our worthy County Attorney has committed an act for which he is to be tried for life. Heaven grant him a good deliverance.—[Bath Times.

Wouldn't it be extremely appropriate, neighbor Times, to include the partner of his bosom in your kindly wish?

—The visitors to the Portland Board of Trade from the West will arrive in that city Tuesday evening and remain two days. Liberal arrangements have been made for their reception.

DROWNED. A little son of James Moore of Oldtown, about 13 years of age, was drowned a few days since, by falling into the water while picking up wood. His body has not been recovered.

—The following patents have been granted to applicants from Maine:—Wm. Bicknell of Hartford, for improved [illegible] machine; James Emery of Bucksport, for improvement in [illegible].

[illegible] furious business in Auburn. Several houses [illegible]

—Lottery advertisements are forbidden by the laws of this State to be published in any of the newspapers, or circulated in any way or manner to the public, under penalty of a heavy fine.

—The body of Miss Corrie Stevens was found in the water at Bates Boom, Fairfield, a few days since. She was drowned at Skowhegan last winter.

—The Skowhegan Clarion says that more building is going on in that enterprising town than was ever known before in one season.

—The Machias Republican mentions that several new buildings are in process of erection in that town.

—The Portland Company are building six new locomotives for the Grand Trunk Railway.

—The Portland Press was unfortunate enough to pi a form, seriously delaying the morning issue.

—The Governor has nominated Francis Adams, Esq., of Topsham, County Attorney for Sagadahoc, vice Temple, resigned.

—George S. Getchell of Marshfield is using hay which was cut in 1835.

—A base ball club has been organized at Dover.

THE SHIPBUILDER'S BANK CASE. The great Shipbuilder's Bank Case has been decided in favor of the stockholders. The action was brought by the Receivers of the Bank, against the stockholders, collectively, to recover about eighty-five thousand dollars, and interest for ten years, making, at this time, over one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars.

It is the most important case over litigated in this section of the State, and perhaps in any part of it. The suit has been pending more than seven years, and has been contested in the most pertinacious manner at every point. It went, finally, upon the bill, answers and proof, to the Law Court in 1864, and was argued by Peter Thacher, Esq., for the Receivers, and A. P. Gould, Esq., for the Stockholders.—[Rockland Gazette.

CUSTOMS SEIZURE. We are informed that Deputy J. W. Longfellow, and Deputy Lyman Hill, made a descent on the 1st day of July upon a suspected retreat of some of the smuggling fraternity at Mason's Bay, in Jonesport. They found a quantity of liquors and tobacco in a house owned by one Peasley, and occupied by a crippled woman. Peasley claimed the goods, and resisted the officers and their assistants. One young man by the name of Farnsworth, was used rather roughly. Peasley drew his knife upon the officers, and showed a great deal of fight for a skeddadler. But they were successful nevertheless, and brought off the goods.—[Machias Union.

ACCIDENTS. On the Fourth, a young man named Goodwin had his left hand badly mutilated, with the loss of two fingers, by the bursting of a gun.

Reuben L. Morgan fell from the railing near the depot, and was badly hurt.

On Tuesday, week, Mr. James McCurdy fell while carrying a bundle of shingles up a ladder, at the freight depot in this city.—No bones were broken, but he was probably severely injured internally, as at this date (Monday) he still remains quite low. —[Gardiner Journal.

Work is progressing on the foundations of the new Methodist Church. The contract for building the church, including the finishing of the outside and the completion of the house ready for plastering, has been given to Mr. B. N. Hemmenway, who prepared the plans of the house, and who is to receive $8,000 for the job and also the old church.—Rockland Gazette.

FIRE. Some miscreant or miscreants set fire to a store house, belonging to Bartlett, Dennis & Co., at the foot of Factory Hill, on the night before the Fourth, and it was totally consumed. Loss about $500. Not insured.—[Gardiner Journal.

DR. SCHENCK'S
NEW OFFICE.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has opened an office on second floor of No. 35 HANOVER STREET, Boston, where he will be professionally every WEDNESDAY, from 9 to 3. Every person complaining with Consumption or any disease tending to it, is invited to call on him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the charge is five dollars.

Dr. Schenck can explain to patients very correctly the stage of their disease, and how to use his medicines, namely, his Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, without the use of the Respirometer; but by it he can tell exactly how far the lungs are gone, and what part also; whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial or Dyspeptic Consumption, or whether it is merely an ulcerated throat and catarrh, or from Liver Complaint.

His medicines have full directions, so any one can take them without seeing him, but if they live near by, and are well enough, it is best to see him. All three of his medicines are required in nearly every case of lung disease, for it is impossible to cure Consumption unless the stomach and liver are kept in perfect order. To get lungs in a healing condition the stomach must be cleansed, and an appetite for good rich food created, so as to make good blood, before the lungs will begin to heal; then the chills and night sweats will stop, and the expectoration become free and easy.

He keeps a full supply of medicines at his rooms, which can be had at all times.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1,50 per bottle, or $7,50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

Dr. Schenck on Dyspepsia.
SYMPTOMS, CAUSES AND REMEDY.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia—A sense of fullness, tightness, and weight in the stomach, together with flatulency, acidity, sour, offensive belching of wind, water-brash and vomiting, and a great deal of what a person calls an all-gone feeling at the pit of the stomach; frequently there is also a palpitation of the heart, which physicians mistake for heart disease, and when the stomach is in this condition it is coated with a mucus or slime. The rough fibrous portions of the stomach, similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric juice, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric juice from flowing, and digestion ceases. Schenck's seaweed tonic dissolves this mucus, or slime, and restores the stomach to its natural condition.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills are also required to carry off this morbid matter. Two-thirds of the cases of Consumption are caused from this diseased state of the stomach; the liver becoming torpid, it ceases to throw off bile, and in a short time the whole system is deranged. The mucous membrance of the bronchial tubes sympathises with the other organs, and before the patient is aware of it, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmonary Consumption.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup cannot act freely through the blood when the system is in this locked-up condition, without the aid of the Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. The Liver has all of the venous blood to strain, and when it gets in a morbid condition, blood and bile run through the system mixed, and the whole body becomes so low, and the blood so thick it can hardly run through the veins. In a majority of cases hemorrhages occur from the thick condition of the blood. The Mandrake Pills act on the Liver similar to calomel, or they do what that does—it unlocks the gall bladders, starts the bile, and the blood begins to circulate naturally through the veins, and the hemorrhages cease. If, when persons are attacked with hemorrhage, they would first take a good purgative, something that would act on the liver, they would soon be relieved from bleeding from the lungs, and it is the only way, for astringents are only temporary, and irritate the bronchial tubes, and lay the groundwork for consumption.

DR. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers. Also a full supply at all times at his rooms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents per box.

CANCERS CAN BE CURED!
DR. L. CHASE,
(LATE OF PORTLAND),
THE CELEBRATED
INDIANOPATHY, CANCER & HUMOR DOCTOR,

HAVING purchased the residence of H. A. Wood, 54 Hammond Street, Bangor, Maine, would be happy to be consulted by all who are afflicted with Cancers, Cancer Humors, Tumors, Scrofula, Leprosy, Salt Rheum, Fits, Neuralgia, Bronchial Affections, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Sick Headache, Liver Diseases, Female Weaknesses, Piles, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Diseases of the Kidneys. Stiff Joints, Gravel, Diabetes, &c., &c.

DR. CHASE has practiced in his profession for sixteen years, and in that time has spent two years in Florida and Cuba, for the purpose of gaining a correct knowledge of the most efficient remedies used by the various tribes of Indians of that country, and by great expense has gained many valuable secrets which have heretofore been unknown to the world.

In Cancer he claims superiority over all other Physicians of the age, for he never fails to perform a cure when taken in a proper stage.

His mode of curing Cancers is by the application of a plaster, which is strictly vegetable, and will have no effect upon the healthy flesh; and in no case uses a knife, as does Dr. Greene, of Boston.

He also boldly asserts that he can tell every individual their disease and location of their pains, and describe their feelings in almost every case, more minutely than they can possibly themselves.

Dr. Chase is not a Clairvoyant, but conducts his examinations on a strictly scientific principle, and will challenge any professed medium for a test examination.

Office hours from 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Office at residence No. 54 Hammond Street.

JULY.

BY JULIA GODDARD.

Throughout the house a dreamy stillness stole,
The watch-dog slept, snores beamed the lazy fly;
The clock ticked with the housewife measured tone,
Counting the drowsy moments of July.

Through quaint-shaped panes the mellow light
And traced rare brown-gold shadows on the floor,
The air was he avy with the scent that hung
Around the clematis that framed the door.

Through the clipped arches of the olden yew
I passed, and very silence reigned around;
It was as though the earth by some enchanter's spell
In magic sleep were bound.

The peacocks slumbered on the garden wall,
The dew lay on the crimson-flecked wallwort;
The red-ripe strawberries gleamed amid their leaves
Like rubies in a ducal coronet.

The feathery wheat stood still as fairy spears,
Borne by a million translucent sentinels;
The harvest was asleep, nor woke to rise,
In honor of July, her tiny bells.

The flannel-tongued nightshade dropped her purple pride,
Yet held entranced the hedges where she clung;
And wearied there her trails of blossoms white
The wild convolvulus flung.

The river with its waveless waters lay
All motionless as a pure crystal sea;
Another heaven painted was on its tide,
With spire, and sail, and tree.

Close by the rush-grown bank a boat was moored,
So still, it stirred not on the river's breast;
The world was hushed, and nature at my feet
Lay wrapped in peaceful rest.

Like to the princes in the story of old,
She in her beauty slept,—oh, sight of bliss!
Waiting until some pool heart should come
And wake her with a kiss.

O wake! O wake! and breathe unto my soul
Thy soul, that rightly I of thee may sing;
Or,—soon for ever, in thy beauty veiled,
'Neath July's wing.

Luck in the Lottery.

BY CAROLINE L. PIERSON LINDSLEY.

'Do I look pretty enough, moth er?' asked Mary Tompkins, coming into her mother's room in a neat evening dress.

'You will do,' replied Mrs. Tompkins, looking admiringly at her daughter. 'I think even Mrs. Brown will find no fault with you.'

'What interest has Mrs. Brown in your looks!' asked Uncle Jacob, who came in just in time to hear her remark.

'Only a dollar and cent interest, uncle,' said Mary. She says all the girls at her table must look as pretty as possible, and so help the sale of tickets.'

'What! tickets again! lottery tickets to be sold again to help our church?'

'Yes, brother,' said Mrs. Tompkins, apologetically. 'The majority of the managers must have the fair all their own way, you know, and we submitted, for it looks so badly for the members of a church to be divided among themselves, and give the world cause to say, 'see how these Christians quarrel!'

Uncle Jacob had laid down the overcoat which he was about putting on when he entered the room, and walked up and down in an excited manner, looking flushed and angry.

'I assure you, brother, I could not prevent the lottery,' said Mrs. Tompkins, laying her hand on his arm. 'I said that I did not like lotteries, and that you, an elder of the church, thought them very wrong. But the ladies said they had promised to raise a certain amount of money to pay the debt on the organ, and they must add a lottery table, for that was sure to succeed.'

'And you have decked out your daughter's beauty to help the sale of those tickets, that, I believe, have many times proved to the young to be passes to the broad road that leads to destruction.' Is this the way you show your disapproval, sister?'

'I think you are too severe, brother,' replied Mrs. Tompkins. 'I confess I do not see so much to fear in an evening's amusement.'

'Truly,' replied Uncle Jacob, 'there is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.' When once a sum of money, be it ever so small, has been ventured in a game of chance, the person's attention is secured and a degree of interest is felt proportioned to the value of the prize to be won; the excitement has a charm that fascinates after the momentary amusement has passed away.'

'I have never heard, brother, of any harm that came from our lotteries, and we have had them in our church fairs for years,' replied Mrs. Tompkins.

'You may not consider how narrow your field of observation is, sister,' replied Uncle Jacob. 'I believe these things often work like a slow poison upon the morals of our young men, the poison being all the more subtle because administered in the name of benevolence, the Bible, and the Church; because it is prepared by the pious matrons of the church, and held out by the jewelled hands of fair young girls!'

'I am sorry, brother, you feel so strongly in this matter,' said Mrs. Tompkins; 'but I assure you this is the last time that I will ever indirectly encourage the practice you so much disapprove.'

But alas for Mrs. Tompkins! This last time, that was said to be very successful for the church, caused a little speck to rise unheeded in her domestic sky that was to gather a cloud big with agony, to crush her maternal heart.

The room was gaily lighted,—the walls were hung with pictures and festooned with boughs; rare flowers graced the tables where refreshments were offered in tempting display, and music filled the air. In the centre, under a brilliant chandelier, was a table loaded with beautiful silver ware, elegant books and pictures, and various objects of luxury and taste. Here Mrs. Brown presided, surrounded by a corps of young girls, beautiful in their pretty dresses, and in the joyousness of their girlhood; among these Mary Tompkins took her place.

A bevy of little boys and girls were engaged in playful and noisy contention over a bag at one end of the room, and from the opposite direction shouts of laughter came from the fishing pond.

Uncle Jacob walked slowly around, with careful eye noting all the arrangements.

'Please, sir, take a grab,' asked a little girl: 'only ten cents a grab.'

Uncle Jacob stroked her head gently and passed on, but stopped again to hear what Harry Tompkins and a group of boys were saying.

'Oh, my eyes!' said Harry, 'I have already spent more than half my money on grabs, and let's see what I have drawn from the bag— three sugar kisses, one tin whistle, a cotton rabbit, and a stick of candy. I have paid sixty cents, and there's what I've got for my money.'

'I have done worse than that!' said Willie Brown, 'for my money is cleaned out, and the fun of the evening is only commenced, so I must coax more out of mother.'

'You prove the truth of the saying, a fool and his money soon parted,' said a tall boy who was leaning against a post.

'The girls say we are mean if we do not take a chance,' replied Harry, 'and when we have grabbed once we try again to do better.'

Willie Brown went to coax more money from his mother, and Harry to try his luck at fishing. A pretty girl behind a screen, said the fish all knew her voice and came when she called; so Harry invested a dime in a chance, and, after waiting a moment for a nibble, he lifted the rod, and a little fish an inch long dangled from the end of the line.

Then just a young girl came along with a work-box. 'Will you take a chance!' she said; only twenty-five cents for a ticket, and the box is worth five dollars.'

'That would be grand,' thought Harry, to get a box worth five dollars, by giving only twenty-five cents.'

He gave his money for a chance, and began thinking what he would do with so valuable an article. He followed the box around the room, and became restless and anxious that the drawing should take place.

The sale of tickets was lively; sweet little girls and fair young ladies offered them with smiles and gay words, and the last contents of many purses were given.

'Will you take a chance!' asked Mary Tompkins, approaching Alfred Burt, with a silver cake basket; 'every ticket but one is sold.'

'I already hold six lottery tickets,' Alfred replied, 'but I should be heedless enough to draw half the prizes.'

'You are good to the 1st degree for the church,' said Mary, 'but this is the first time that I have asked you.'

'And you may write the above for your last chance,' he replied gayly, as his pencil ran on.

Alfred Burt put his hand through William Spencer's arm, and walked to a window recess. 'I am in a tight place, Spencer,' he said, in a low tone. 'I have already borrowed money since I came here, but these lotteries stop a fellow. When these pretty girls come round urging us to buy their tickets, they don't know that they are tempting us to beg, borrow or steal for the church, and I almost refused to buy of the girl I liked best, because I had not a dollar left.'

'And you wish to borrow one,' said Spencer. 'I have just borrowed two, and here is one at your service; good luck to you, and if you get no basket I trust you to-night.'

Alfred Burt was relieved for the moment, and resolved if he drew the basket he would present it to Mary Tompkins. She thinks meanly of me for hesitating to buy her ticket when she was offering it for the good of the church, so I will do a generous thing at last—if I can.

Uncle Jacob thoughtfully observed all the proceedings, and his heart was pained to see the interest and excitement manifested in this traffic in chance.

'We cannot estimate the harm that is done by one evening's excitement like this,' he said to the Rev. Mr. Stimpson.

'Perhaps so,' replied Mr. Stimpson, 'but I think you exaggerate.'

'No, sir, replied Uncle Jacob, 'the harm is done in undermining the moral integrity of boys and young men. If the excitement of success of one of these youths to-night is so pleasurable as to lead him to indulge in more questionable pursuits, what gain or glory is it to the church that she found a few dollars, and lost a lamb or ruined a soul?'

'I have never known any such fearful instances,' replied Mr. Stimpson, 'if I felt certain that this method of raising means for churches, was doing evil that good might come, I should unhesitatingly condemn it. As it is, I look upon it rather as a question of expediency than of principle.'

'When there is room for a doubt,' replied Uncle Jacob, 'respecting the moral influence we are having upon the young men by the practices we sanction as a Christian church, it is principle, not expediency, that should give weight to our decisions.'

'Many practices that are harmless or good in their proper use may be perverted so as to become injurious,' replied Mr. Stimpson; 'therefore I say this social use of chance may be looked upon as a question of expediency, not principle.'

'My two associations,' said Uncle Jacob, 'have been such as to enable me to see much of the wrong side of men, and I have observed the influence their employments and amusements have upon the moral tone of character, and I have no hesitation in saying that the lottery principle, that in some form has crept into almost every department of life, has, like the ship worm, been doing its silent work to the detriment of our social and religious soundness. The church in its various branches, and benevolent institutions and pious individuals, have by the sanction of name and practice, made this traffic in chances reputable in the eyes of the world, and the world, with its own peculiar wisdom, taking advantage of this prestige, brings out various games of hazard, its gift concerts and enterprises, and its, speculating schemes, saying, 'The principles of these saints and ours are the same.'

Mr. Stimpson became uneasy, and probably was not sorry to be interrupted by a company of young girls who came pushing along with much noise, bearing a large doll.

'Will you take a ticket for the doll! it's the last chance for the evening—a ticket for the doll! a ticket for the doll!' Tickets were not sold strictly for the patience of some and the pockets of others were quite exhausted. But the end came, and the interest of the hour admonished those in charge that the evening's entertainment and labors should be brought to a close.

The number of valuable articles in the raffle caused the excitement to be intense among the young ticket holders during the drawing. 'There,' said a young man of about twenty years, speaking in a low tone with an oath. 'I spent all the money with which I was to buy my mother's birthday gift, hoping I might draw something of more value than I could buy—and see, I'm empty handed. No luck for me! But,' he continued, with another oath, 'I would try it over again, for the excitement before the drawing pays for the disappointment afterward.

Among other prizes, Alfred Burt drew the card basket, which he duly presented to Mary Tompkins. Mrs. Tompkins said, 'What a nice young man Alfred Burt is, he is so generous for the church;' and Mary Tompkins heart responded, Yes. William Spencer treated Alfred Burt that night, a congratulatory treat for his good luck. The tired matrons, who had borne the burdens of care and labor during the evening, were coaxing sleep to flit air wearied minds, and young girls were dreaming over past pleasures. Bob and the veiled widows of a saloon severa young men were sitting around a table. Mirth and hilarity were there, for the wine circulated freely, and Alfred Burt's luck was tested. It was what the world calls luck that sent Alfred Burt to his door that night with a smile over his eyes and an uncertain step and touch that caused him to fumble at the window with his door-key. It was this luck that sent him to his business the next day with heavy step and aching head, and induced him before night to buy a ticket in a gift enterprise. A few more successful ventures induced Alfred Burt to believe as William Spencer said, that he was born under a lucky star.

'Yes, you're a lucky fellow,' said Spencer, 'you have talent for turning the winning card. I know of a splendid lottery enterprise; if you will invest you have a chance for winning something worth having.'

Alfred listened with a half-willing ear; but his purse was empty and debts were pressing. He thought of his success heretofore in smaller ventures. 'I have often invested for the church and benevolent societies,' he thought, 'and drew the winning ticket. It is no more than right for me to give myself a chance to win a prize, with good luck, I shall get rich enough to get square with the world; and it is my duty to owe no man.'

But how to get the money was a question. He had already borrowed so much and so often he feared his credit would suffer. Being clerk in a banking-house, there were opportunities to borrow and say nothing, and repay and say nothing, and none would be the wiser. He thought carefully and quietly; his hands were clenched, until the finger nails left the prints cut into the palms; for he was using his strength to shut in his thoughts. He was working at a hard question, a question that made the light of the sun and the eyes of men intrusive.

Alfred Burt bought the desired ticket.

'Is that you or your ghost?' asked William Spencer, as he met him a few days after; 'you look white and shadowy enough for the realm of shades.'

'I am not well,' said Burt, 'and close confinement to business, you know, makes a fellow cadaverous.'

'You've a plendid chance in that lottery,' said Spencer; 'to be sure you had to pay pretty round for it, but your chance is so much the better, and then luck is in your favor.'

Burt passed on, with an effort at a merry laugh. He had thought of the lottery until every letter of the word was burned into his soul. He had shut his eyes and thoughts of the false entry he had made on the book of the false entry he had made on the book; he had thought and thought until his eyelids had learned to droop.

Alfred Burt was successful. The turning of the wheel made him the possessor of the desired prize. His luck was toasted, good men, members of churches, those who were called exemplary men in the community, who had bought tickets, but lost the prize, congratulated him and called him lucky. The money he had secretly abstracted from the bank was restored; the books told no tales; and Alfred Burt stood square with the world; but he stood on slippery places.'

Within two weeks he was the affianced husband of Mary Tompkins, and then he felt himself to be indeed lucky; he stood square with the world; had a deposit of his own in the bank, and had received the promise of the girl he loved the best to become his wife.

'Glorious luck,' thought Alfred Burt. 'I believe I am sure to win, but I will always keep on the safe side, and never tempt a failure.'

A year was to pass before the marriage. 'I have several little speculations on hand,' thought Alfred, 'and before that time I can make a splendid investment, he who risks nothing gains nothing.' Thus has reasoned many a man when the demon for gain was beginning to fire his heart, and with eyes dazzled by golden prizes, he, like Alfred Burt, listens to the syren voice of temptation. Long before the wedding day Alfred Burt had invested in a lottery enterprise, and had drawn a prize of five hundred dollars. Success, Hopeful-
